PRESIDENT: Motion is lost. What other motions do we have on the desk.

CLERK: Well, we have to go to final reading--

PRESIDENT: Alright, well--Alright, then we'll move to the final reading at this particular time. Se-- excuse me, Senator Kime, your light is on and I'm wondering, for what purpose did you want to be recognized? Chair recognizes Senator Kime.

SENATOR KIME: Mr. President, point of personal privilege.

PRESIDENT: State your point, Senator.

SENATOR KIME: Well, I'd like to take this opportunity to thank all the people in this body and their wives for the fine cards and letters that they sent to Mrs. Kime while she was confined in the hospital at Rochester. She appreciated it very much and so did I. She's coming along very fine. She's been dismissed from the hospital and hope to have her back here tomorrow. Thank you.

PRESIDENT: That's good news. Thank you, Senator Kime, we're delighted to hear all of that. Senator Carpenter, for what purpose do you rise?

SENATOR CARPENTER: On LB 114 on final reading, I want to distribute to the body the opinion of the Attorney General of the State of Nebraska which is, I think, desirable you read and when we get to LB 114, I am going to move that the bill be stricken--and sent back to select file for a specific amendment to strike the emergency clause. I only do that because I think this is a highly important bill and it's the only method I know in which we can discuss it. In the meantime, I hope you'll read the Attorney General's opinion so that when you get to 114 we'll be more knowledgeable than maybe we are at this particular time.

PRESIDENT: Under the motions that have been adopted now this morning, the next order of business would be to read LB 235 and 235A on final reading. Before we proceed to that though, the Chair does want to mention that I'm sure most of you had a chance to greet him, but earlier this morning was former Lieutenant Governor and, of course, President of the Legislature and former Governor, Dwight Burney that was seated under the South Balcony and I thought that we should acknowledge his presence here this morning. It was a great delight to see that venerable statesman return to the legislative chamber here. Alright, we'll proceed then with the final reading of LB 235 and 235A. Attention please the final reading of LB 235. Stand by just a minute. We are going to have to clear the floor, of course. Have to request that the Senators be in their seats, for the final reading of LB 235. Senator Cal Carsten, for what purpose do you rise, Senator?

SENATOR CARSTEN: Mr. President, point of information. I'm wondering why 235, 235A are going to the head of the list on final
